Regulation to reap $18b

AUSTRALIA'S airlines have stepped up their call for tighter regulation of the country's monopoly airports, saying more effective oversight would deliver more than $18 billion in economic benefits.

In its submission to the Productivity Commission's inquiry into airport regulation (TD 22 Jun), Airlines for Australia and New Zealand (A4ANZ) provides analysis from Frontier Economics which outlines the financial benefits that would flow from "fit for purpose" regulation.

They include tourism benefits of about $480 million and job creation equal to 7,000 positions.

Other benefits include a consumer surplus of $5.9 billion, travel time savings of $819 million & GDP benefits of $10.9 billion.

A4ANZ chairman Graeme Samuel said the current system failed to facilitate commercial negotiations between airports and customers.

"This should not come as a surprise to anyone, as monopolists will overcharge unless faced with a credible threat of regulation," Samuel said.

Hunt returns to Voyages

GRANT Hunt has been appointed as the new ceo of Voyages Indigenous Tourism Australia, marking his return to the firm he previously headed up for a decade from 1996.

While at Voyages Hotels and Resorts Hunt led the development of the iconic Longitude 131° and The Lost Camel Hotel, established the Mutitjulu Foundation which funds projects in communities around Uluru, and produced the travel industry's first ever report on Corporate Social Responsibility.

He also expanded the business from a single resort at Uluru to a portfolio of 23 properties.

"My previous time at Voyages was both professionally and personally rewarding – the company and Ayers Rock Resort is in my blood," said Hunt.

"To return to find the destination prospering with innovative installations such as the Field of Light and with 40% Indigenous employment is fantastic," he said.

Following Voyages, Hunt developed his own nature-based tourism company, Anthology (TD 18 Oct 2010), and chaired a range of boards such as The Australian Tourism Data Warehouse, Tourism Tasmania and Tourism NT.

He also served as a Tourism Australia director and was part of the Uluru-Kata Tjuta National Park Board of Management.

TNZ strikes new Ctrip deal

TOURISM New Zealand will pursue the tailor-made market in China through a new deal signed with Ctrip Customised Travel.

The pair have signed a memorandum of understanding to support the growth of tailor-made travel, including the launch of a new Ctrip "New Zealand Specialist and Customised Travel" training program.

Ctrip says its queries for customised tours increased by 120% in the first half of 2018, while queries relating specifically to New Zealand customised tours increased by 150%.

"Tailor-made or customised travel is a growing trend in China due to an increasing demand for in-depth travel by consumers who don't have the time to plan their own itinerary but are willing to pay for a quality experience," says Gregg Wafelbakker, Tourism New Zealand general manager - Asia. "Tailor-made travel gives Chinese independent travellers the structure of an organised tour with the freedom to experience more of what New Zealand has to offer."

Tourism NZ says tailor-made travel has been a significant shift from the large group tours traditionally seen from China.

Four groups now make up just 35% of Chinese visitors, down from 39% in 2017. Free and Independent Travellers (FIT) now make up 39% of Chinese visitors, up from 32% in 2017.

Ctrip Customised Travel ceo Xu Zhiyun said the partnership with Tourism New Zealand would help to highlight the range of attractions and regions New Zealand had to offer.

"We will work with Tourism New Zealand to empower consultants through training and resources from official channel, presenting New Zealand's diverse resources through different routes," she said.

SYD signs Bvlgari

SYDNEY Airport today announced a new Bvlgari store for its T1 international luxury precinct, with the Italian jeweller to showcase its collections to travellers alongside other upmarket brands including Rolex, Tiffany, Hermes, Gucci, Burberry, Coach, Hugo BOSS, Max Mara, TUMI and more.

The new Bvlgari boutique at SYD will be the company's seventh Australian outlet and its only airport location in the country.

BNE set for takeoff

THE construction of Brisbane Airport's new runway has reached a new milestone with the completion of the first portions of the critical link taxiways that will connect it with the existing system and terminals.

"Brisbane's new runway has been on Master Plan documents since the 1970s, so to be here where we can physically stand on taxiways and see the foundations of the runway being laid is a huge achievement for the thousands of people who have been involved with this project since its very early days," said Brisbane Airport Corporate ceo Gert-Jan de Graaff.

"The focus now is on the physical runway and broader taxiway systems which are starting to take shape with the initial base layers of crushed rock already being placed, working from the centre out."

The expansion is due for completion in mid 2020.

Window Seat

AS IF Austria and Australia don't suffer enough confusion already, police in a rural township in Upper Austria have been on the look-out for a wild kangaroo that has been raising eyebrows among locals.

The wayward marsupial has been spotted several times around Hellmonsödt in the country's north, bringing into question the tourist t-shirts sold in Vienna which declare Austria to be kangaroo-free.

Agence France-Presse says the origins of the hopping interloper remain a mystery.

"We have called all the zoos and kangaroo breeders around us, but no one is missing a kangaroo. We hope the owner will come forward," it quotes a local police spokesman.

P&O drought offer

P&O Cruises has set aside 85 cabins on two upcoming four-night cruises for farmers and their families who have suffered in the drought affecting NSW and Qld.

Rural Aid is working with P&O to nominate farmers in both states to sail on Pacific Explorer and Pacific Dawn from Sydney and Brisbane on 04 and 10 Dec.

The move complements Rural Aid's current Buy-A-Bale campaign to provide additional feed for livestock.

Cards hit in BA hacking

HACKERS have stolen the credit card details and personal information of about 380,000 British Airways (BA) customers in a two-week breach of the carrier's website and mobile app.

The airline has apologised and contacted affected customers, whose names, billing addresses, email addresses and credit card details have been placed at risk.

"There was a very sophisticated, malicious criminal attack on our website," said BA ceo Alex Cruz on BBC radio, adding that it was the worst breach since the website's launch 20 years ago.

"The first thing to say is that I am extremely sorry for what happened," he said.

"We will work with any customer affected and we will compensate any financial hardship suffered."

The breach affected those who made bookings or changed their flights online or via the app between 21 Aug and 05 Sep.

However those who made transactions via PayPal did not have their card details stolen, BA said, and no passport details or phone numbers were affected.

The UK Government has said it is investigating the breach.

"We are aware of the reports and the National Cyber Security Centre and the National Crime Agency are working to better understand what has happened," a spokesperson said.

Customers are advised to contact their card issuer if they believe they have been affected.

The airline has created an information page on its website with further details - CLICK HERE.

Lombok closure

Hotel Indigo Adl

INTERCONTINENTAL Hotels Group (IHG) has announced the addition of Hotel Indigo Adelaide Markets to its portfolio, with the hotel slated for opening in 2020.

The 16-storey boutique hotel on Market Street will feature 137 rooms, meeting spaces, gym and level four pool with sun deck.

Abhijay Sandilya, IHG's senior director of development – Australasia said the Adelaide Central Market was a "local destination that has developed its own distinct identity and culture, so we know that visitors will love a hotel that can capture that essence and deliver a unique experience".

"Hotel Indigo will complement IHG's existing Holiday Inn Express, InterContinental and soon-to-open Crowne Plaza, giving travellers options to cater to every stay", he added.

The deal is the sixth Australasian signing for the Hotel Indigo brand.

Rex seals Mt Gambier deal

REGIONAL Express has announced a “breakthrough partnership” with the District Council of Grant, the owners of Mount Gambier Airport in SA.

The deal will see the introduction of a $129 Rex Community Fare on at least 25% of seats on flights to both Melbourne and Adelaide for 30-day advance bookings, as well as on all remaining seats one day prior to departure.

In exchange the council will lower the Mount Gambier airport head tax by $2.20, which Rex is matching by further reducing all of its fares by $2.20.

The regional carrier has also committed to prioritising Mount Gambier for future additional services to Adelaide once pilot numbers are rebuilt.

“This milestone partnership agreement between Rex and the District Council of Grant is about risk sharing, co-investment and mutual trust and respect,” said Warrick Lodge, Rex gm of network strategy & sales.

He said the $129 Rex community fare would deliver improved fare affordability and passenger growth “which will engender significant socio-economic benefit to the Mount Gambier region”.

The pact was sealed at the Rex Board dinner late last month by executive chairman Lim Kim Hai, with other participants pictured including Minister for Resources and Northern Australia, Matt Canavan; Tourism Tasmania ceo John Fitzgerald; District Council of Grant ceo David Singe; Rex deputy chairman John Sharp; Hans van Pelt, Tourism Tasmania director of aviation and access development; Mount Gambier mp Troy Bell; and Hannah Martin, senior tourism advisor to the Premier of Tasmania.
